Tone Quality	The tone is uniform, consistent and well controlled throughout. Lapses are infrequent and minor in nature. The ensemble performs in tune in all dynamics and ranges throughout the performance. There may be rare lapses in intonation.	Tone problems are infrequent. Occasional lapses in tone are caused by extremes of range/volume. The ensemble is well tuned most of the time with infrequent pitch problems. Problems that occur are due to range and dynamic extremes.	Tone quality has some harshness and/or distortion at extended ranges/volume levels. There are some inconsistencies in the tone quality. The ensemble is mostly in tune but inconsistent. There are some attempts to correct the problems.	There is a fundamental understanding of tone but the extremes of volume and register are often out of control. The ensemble is somewhat in tune. When problems occur minimal attempts are made to correct them.	There is a lack of understanding of proper tone quality. Notes are overblown/oversung causing distorted sounds in all ranges and registers. There is a lack of proper air support to produce a quality sound. There is a lack of tonal center that results in poor intonation.
Balance and Blend	The ensemble achieves a pyramid balance in dynamics and ranges throughout the performance. Appropriate musical lines are in the forefront relative to accompaniment.	The ensemble achieves an excellent blend most of the time with infrequent balance problems.	The ensemble has a proper blend. There are some lapses when sections are overpowering other sections.	At times, the ensemble achieves proper balance. The ensemble often has members that are playing/singing either too loud or too soft resulting in an imbalance in sound. INSTRUMENTATION - RIMEA considers instrumentation an important part of a balanced ensemble. This is part of the evaluation process overall. If a part is missing then it will affect the musicality, interpretation, as well as balance of the ensemble. Timbre is an important aspect of composition. Although not specifically judged, it will be inherent in the overall evaluation of the ensemble.
